WOOL.—The market for fleece is quiet, the demand being soft, but prices are unchanged. What little demand remains is for the low grades, which remain scarce and inelastic in quest for all kinds. Prices, however, remain steady. The price is still light inquired for, but held at full prices, while the demand is still light. The market is quiet. In foreign business is light and prices are generally nominal.

A GULL IN THE COAL MARKET.

The following few statistics are given so that the public may better understand the anthracite coal trade and what are likely to be the results this fall. The amount sent to market was in

	Tons.	Tons.
1930	355 1985	9,272,157.
1931	864,384 1967	12,216,215.
1932	3,321,163 1968	13,405,016.
1933	8,143,939

The increased consumption of 1968 and 1967 was about 1,500,000 tons each, and 1968 over 1967 was nearly 1,300,000 tons. The number of tons this year to the 14th instant is 17,299,073, being about 167,000 over the amount to same date last year. But at this time last year there were at least 1,500,000 tons delivered in the cellars of the consumers, while this year the cellars are empty. The coal is almost all used up, showing that the general business of the United States this year is much superior to that of any other year, and that there will be a much greater demand for anthracite coal in 1969 than in 1968. The popularity of the elections in 1968 caused a general pression in business, and a less amount of coal was required. To make up the amount not yet delivered in 1907, the companies have been working for the past two or three years, and to supply the increased demand from iron furnaces, factories and other businesses more coal is much used, there will be at least 600,000 tons of coal shipped before the close of the year. In 1907, about 15,000,000 tons, leaving yet about 8,707,000 tons to be shipped before the close of navigation, or about 600,000 tons per week.

The greatest number of tons ever mined in one year was in 1906, when the output was 14,000,000; and last fall, after the strike, and when all the coleries were worked to their utmost capacity, they did not average more than 10,000,000 tons. The two famous coals ("Cumberland and Broad Top"), which were mined in 1908 about 1,330,400 tons, is now selling at $8 50 to $7 25 per ton, and is much superior to Nova Scotia or any yet mined in Canada, and is the best coal in the world. It is mined about 100,000 tons every year to Montreal and other parts of Canada. And it is evident that the duty of 25 per cent, removed on foreign coal would not be a disadvantage to the coal companies, but a benefit to the gas companies and a few of the wealthy classes, who use a few tons of Liverpool or Cannel at less than $1 to $2 per ton, but it would not enable the owners to make a profit. The market for coal is less than our own bituminous coal of a much better quality.

"The owners are given to honestly assure the public that coal will not be selling at a low rate this fall or winter, and to hold on to the idea of paying a ton at a time at a much higher rate is not the way to reach their proper class."

WHO OWNS THEM

New Central Revenue Officers are Managed.

(Washington correspondence of Syracuse Journal.)

I heard a capitalist with regard to the control of the revenue officers—storekeepers, I believe—by the distiller in wine and spirits was placed. The story comes to me from one who knows, and is an apt illustration of the recent experience with wine and spirits. It is a story that at dawn the pay of assistant assessors and other officials. A supervisor in New York recently received a letter from one of these distillers to notify him perhaps his inspection collars were not. Perhaps the distiller was a German, we'll all say Mr. Schmidt. He waited on the supervisor and said, "I am sorry to hear of your collars. I'll see that you move Mr. Shones? You think I own him, eh? Suppose I does, how you going to help it?" "Quite likely," was the Supervisor's reply; "but you'll move him."

"Well, I'll move him."

"You can't help it," down they all. Does the distiller say, "I'll move him?" "Vell, I tells you Saturday's come—I say to Shones, 'You got a wife?'" "Live in a tenement house?" He says, "Yes, I live in a tenement house." "You got a wife?" He says, "Yes, I live in a tenement house." "You got a wife?" He says, "Yes, I live in a tenement house." "You got a wife?" He says, "Yes, I live in a tenement house."

He says, "Take a letter to your Vic." He goes home and says, "Vic, here's a letter a gentleman sends you." She wonders what it is, opens it and there's von, two, three, six von hundred dollar greenbacks—all new. They never see so much money before. They take it and buy lot of things for children. "You pay him four dollars a day," give him six hundred a week. Who owns him—our like to how? How are you going to help? I do not see any other way. I only see one way. I want to be free to like to own her and buggy, house of his own and enjoy himself. How can you prevent it?" Mr. Schmidt was frank, for the foregoing is substantially true. Can the government expect to be successful in its present position? It is impossible when it pays insufficient wages and offers no career or security of position to honest and integrity men.
